

Laudatio für Prof. Dr. Elaine Farndale

Prof. Dr. Simon Lüchinger, Dekan der Wirtschaftswissenschaftlichen Fakultät

The Faculty of Economics and Management of the University of Lucerne hereby confers all the dignity, rights and privileges of an honorary doctorate degree in Economics and Management upon Prof. Dr. Elaine Farndale,

- who has helped to build a community of scholars devoted to the understanding of both the diversity of Human Resource Management Practices in countries around the world, and the gradual convergence of such practices.
- who organizes Global Conferences on International Human Resource Management and who contributes to a series of webinars that are available online for free, stimulating the collaboration amongst younger scholars who might otherwise work in relative isolation.
- who has been a leading figure in the 30-year research project known as CRANET (Cranfield Network on Comparative Human Resource Management), which is now the largest network on Human Resource Management in the world.
